NEWSLETTER

OF THE EUROPEAN SOCIETY FOR HISTORY OF LAW

Nr. 2 Vol. 1 December 15th, 2019 ISSN 2694-7587

Dear members
of The European Society for History of Law,

we present to you a second issue of the international newsletter. As was established in the first issue, it contains mainly information about newly published books from the fields of modern and old history of law and also Roman law. The table of contents of the last issue of the Journal on European History of Law and invitations to conferences are included in the last section of the newsletter.

The newsletter has its own ISSN and is published only in an electronic version twice a year. Members of the European Society for History of Law receive it via e-mail and also it is be available for general public at www.historyoflaw.eu, which also contains an archive of previously issued newsletters.

We would also like to invite Facebook users to join our Facebook group at https://www.facebook.com/groups/271287786103/. This represents an opportunity to receive quick updates about news in our fields of interest.

Also we would like to encourage all members to participate in the creation of this newsletter. Mainly we would appreciate reports from conferences and thesis defences or reviews and annotations of monographs. Also we would welcome publishing invitations to conferences.

We wish you merry and peaceful Christmas and a successful start of the new year.

Liability and Responsibility in Legal History

XXVIth Annual Forum of Young Legal Historians Istanbul, 10 – 13 June 2020

Our next gathering aims to investigate liability and responsibility through legal history. Such topic necessitates a multidisciplinary approach as legal liability concerns both civil law and criminal law and can arise from various areas of law, such as contracts, torts, taxes, or fines given by government agencies. Instead legal responsibility concerns legal obligation; a measure of mental capacity, used in deciding the extent to which a person can be held accountable for a crime (such as diminished responsibility); specific duties imposed upon persons to care or provide for others, such as the parents duty to the child or the guardianship of a ward; and a person's role in causing an event to happen. That is to say, a chain of causation means an individual is responsible for an event. This is actually part of the law of legal liability and public liability.

By analyzing these topics through a historical point of view, we can understand how the development happened and at the end we might answer the question of "why did it happen". For instance, the general principle in Roman legal thought was that there should be no liability for others: Gaius writes that "our condition can be made better but not worse through our slaves"; a fortiori, it could not be made worse by those who were not members of the family.

Further, in legal history, it is important to understand the interactions between these two terms (liability and responsibility) and their differences. Both terms might be interlinked but as to their consequences and their application there appear a difference.

We believe that the conference gives young legal historians a unique opportunity to present their research in the field and to get acquainted with the interdisciplinary approaches presented by their colleagues from around the world.

If you would like to present a paper during the conference, please send an application including an abstract of not more than 250 words and your CV to aylh2020istanbul@gmail.com before 21st of February 2020. Presentations have to be in English and should not exceed 20 minutes each. Presentation in Turkish language will be allowed together with simultaneous translator. The conference fee will be € 100, - and does not include travel and accommodation.

After 21st of February accepted papers will be informed and will be contacted further to complete the registration by paying the conference fee. Registration link could be found in our web-site.

Please note that registration is limited to a number of people. Therefore, early registration is strongly recommended!

We look forward to welcoming you to Istanbul.

Call for Papers
Kindheiten in den böhmischen Ländern und der Slowakei, 19.- 21. Jahrhundert

Jahrestagung des Collegium Carolinum in Kooperation mit dem Ústav českých dějin FF UK und dem Historický ústav SAV

Fischbachau/Bayern, 7.-10. November 2019

Historische Kindheitsforschung boomt. Dabei liegt der regionale Schwerpunkt der Forschung bisher allerdings sehr eindeutig auf dem nordamerikanischen Raum und Westeuropa. Unsere Tagung hingegen will Ostmitteleuropa, insbesondere die böhmischen Länder und das historische Gebiet der Slowakei in den Blick nehmen.

Davon ausgehend, dass Kinder und Kindheit für moderne Gesellschaften eine zentrale, dabei aber ausgesprochen kontrovers ausdeutbare Bedeutung haben, fragen wir nach unterschiedlichen Konzepten und Gestaltungsstrategien. Kinder gelten in der Moderne als Zukunftsressource und werden deshalb oft zu zentralen Motiven nationaler und politischer Identitätskonstruktionen; Kinderkultur und Kindererziehung sind umkämpfte Felder nationaler wie sozialer Konflikte und Abgrenzungen. Hier geraten insbesondere die vielfachen, oft sehr grundlegenden politischen und gesellschaftlichen Zäsuren in Ostmitteleuropa in den Blick und die Frage danach, welche Auswirkungen diese auf Kindheitskonzepte und Kindheitspolitik hatten, welche Brüche oder auch Kontinuitäten zu beobachten sind.

Welche Bedeutung wurde Kindern und Kindheit beigemessen im Rahmen des österreichisch-ungarischen Reiches und der Nationalbewegungen, in Kriegszeiten, der demokratischen Tschechoslowakei der Zwischenkriegszeit, dem Protektorat und dem Slowakischen Staat, den staatssozialistischen Systemen und schließlich in der Transformationszeit? Welche Rolle spielten Kinder und Kindheit in den jeweiligen Plänen und Ideologien für eine „neue" Gesellschaft? Gab es „tschechoslowakische" Kindheiten, oder sind nationale, regionale, soziale und ethnische Unterschiede entscheidend? Wir fragen nach Definitionen, Repräsentationen, Formen von Wissensproduktionen, staatlich-administrativen Zugriffen, differenzierten Lebenswelten und der Formung kindlicher Subjektivität.

Ziel der Tagung ist es, den ostmitteleuropäischen Raum mit seinen zahlreichen historischen Brüchen stärker in die internationale historische Kindheitsforschung einzubringen, komparative Ebenen einzubauen und nach generellen Strukturen moderner Kindheit, Entwicklungen der longue-durée sowie nach regionalen/kulturellen/politischen Besonderheiten zu fragen.

Mögliche Themenbereiche:

- Konzepte und Definitionen von Kindheit
- Formen der Fürsorge und Betreuung durch Staat, Gesellschaft und Familie
- Wissensproduktion in Pädagogik, Medizin und Kinderpsychologie
- Ideologien und Kindheit: Norm, Kultur und Praxis
- Die Rolle von Kindheit im nationalen Diskurs
- Schulformen und ihre Entwicklung
- Kinderkultur und -medien und ihre gesellschaftliche Bedeutung
- Normierung, Segregation und Disziplinierung von Kindern
- Intersektionale Ansätze: die Kategorien Geschlecht, Alter, Ethnie, soziale Schicht, Religion, disability (etc.)

Der Call for Papers richtet sich an WissenschaftlerInnen aus allen kulturwissenschaftlichen Disziplinen. Wir bitten um Skizzen (ca. 2000 Zeichen) für Vorträge mit einer Länge von 20 Minuten, die die oben genannten Fragen adressieren. Die Konferenzsprachen sind Deutsch und Englisch, die Abstracts können auch auf Tschechisch und Slowakisch eingereicht werden. Das Collegium Carolinum übernimmt die Reise- und Unterbringungskosten. Die Herausgabe eines Tagungsbandes ist geplant.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Historicization of International Law and its Limits: Preconditions, Modes and Legacies

Date of the Workshop: 4–5 June 2020

Convenors: Jean d'Aspremont and Thomas Kleinlein

Keynote Discussion with B.S. Chimni

Deadline for submission of abstracts: 31 January 2020

Historiographical debates about international law have been flourishing in the international legal literature over the last two decades. Following what international lawyers described as a 'turn to history' – and which is probably better understood as a turn to historiography –, it has become common for international lawyers to discourse and theorize about the specific forms and the meanings provided to the past and the ways in which such a past is created and organized by international lawyers. Such prolific historiographical debates have led to a wealth of new histories and counter-histories of international law. Being mostly produced in circles deemed (or self-labelled as) critical, this new body of literature has been promptly portrayed as an offspring of critical legal thought. Indeed, many international lawyers have considered that the historical turn constituted a natural continuation of the linguistic turn and the rise of critical thought witnessed a few decades earlier in international legal scholarship. And yet, the recent interest in the history of international law is no monopoly of (critical) international lawyers. Mention must be made of the growing interest for global histories among historians.

This workshop is premised on the idea that a continuity between critical thought and critical history is far from obvious and that it remains unclear whether all the new histories and counter histories produced after the 'turn to history' can be appropriately called critical. Arguably, their disruptive nature is compromised because they have all remained articulated around the same European markers and figures. Questioning the kinship between critical thought and the turn to history in international law allows this workshop to take a hard look at the 'critical' character of the new histories and counter-histories of international law. The aim of this workshop is to shed a new light on the historicization of international law and its limits. To that end, participants are invited to reflect on the preconditions, modes and legacies of the 'turn to historiography'.

Particular attention will be paid to the interaction between the turn to history and post-colonial studies, in particular the works of scholars affiliated with the so-called 'Third World Approaches to International Law' (TWAIL). The legacy of the historical turn cannot be evaluated independently from TWAIL engagements with the history of international law.

The workshop will be held in an informal setting with a group of 15-20 participants, enabling open and mutually stimulating discussions.

The questions of particular interest include (but are not limited to):

- The genealogy between the linguistic turn to the turn to history in international law
- The move from theory to the history of international law
- The distinct generations of engagements with history among international lawyers
- The genealogy between the linguistic turn, TWAIL and the turn to history
- The methodological challenges associated with the writing of critical histories
- The possibility of new modes of critique
- The use of global history
- The use of micro-histories and macro-histories, narratives and counter-narratives, local impact
- The role of aporias, fundamental assumptions, 'positionality' of historicization, agendas of historicization
- The challenge of 'anachronism'
- The modes of historicization of TWAIL vs. other modes of historicization in international law

Submissions:

Interested scholars should submit an abstract of no more than 800 words by 31 January 2020. Abstracts should contain the title of the paper, as well as the name, title and affiliation of the author(s). Please send abstracts and a CV including a list of publications to susanne.prater@uni-jena.de. If you wish to discuss topics or ideas informally, please thomas.kleinlein@uni-jena.de and/or jean.daspremont@sciencespo.fr. Speakers will be informed by 15 February 2020 whether or not their paper has been accepted.

Venue:

The workshop will be held in the Old Castle in Dornburg/Thuringia (Altes Schloss von Dornburg, 25 min from Jena) on 4 and 5 June 2020. Travel and accommodation expenses will be covered on the basis of the Thuringia public-sector regulations governing travel expenses.

Timeline:

Abstract submission by: 31 January 2020

Selection of papers by: 15 February 2020

Workshop: 4–5 June 2020

Laien in der Gerichtsbarkeit

Geschichte und aktuelle Perspektiven

Geschworenengerichtsbarkeit - von ihren Anfängen bis zu aktuellen Reformdiskussionen

"Professionalisierung" ist ein populäres Schlagwort unserer Zeit und prägte als Narrativ den Blick auf Justiz und Justizgeschichte. Die Verdrängung nicht juristisch gebildeter Laien aus der Gerichtsbarkeit wurde als unvermeidlicher Optimierungsprozess begriffen. Dessen ungeachtet spielten Laien in der Justiz des 19. und 20. Jahrhunderts eine wichtige Rolle und sind nach wie vor - wenngleich umstrittene - Akteure der Rechtspflege.
Die Beiträge dieses Sammelbandes verfolgen die Geschichte der modernen Geschworenengerichtsbarkeit von ihren Anfängen bis zu aktuellen Reformdiskussionen. Dabei wird auch die Bedeutung des Laienelements für die NS-Justiz sowie bei der Bewältigung des NS-Unrechts untersucht. Einen Schwerpunkt bildet der Rechtsvergleich; hier werden neben England und der Schweiz besonders die Rechtsordnungen von Nachfolgestaaten der Habsburgermonarchie in den Blick genommen. Schließlich widmen sich einige Beiträge der Laienbeteiligung jenseits des Strafrechts, im Handels- und Arbeitsrecht, im Disziplinarrecht der Beamten und im Rahmen alternativer Streitbeilegungsmodelle.

This volume contributes to the broadening of perspectives on international history, which have mainly focused on state forms of international cooperation in the 19th and 20th centuries so far. The volume questions ideas and theoretical models that are guided by methodological nationalism. Instead, it integrates studies under the concept of cross-border cooperation (grenzüberschreitende Zusammenarbeit) that deal with other epochs as well as non-state forms of cooperation. The individual essays take the governance approach into account, which is suitable because of its openness towards problems regarding interdependency, thus offering a broader perspective for discussion. This volume addresses historians, political scientists and social scientists who conduct research into cross-border cooperation.
